

Thistly Meadow Primary School Guidance for Prospective Governors

Being a school governor is both a rewarding and challenging experience. Governors provide strategic leadership and work in partnership with the Head teacher and senior leaders in schools to ensure that every child gets the best possible education.

The demands on governors and governing bodies have changed dramatically in recent years and this guidance has been written to help aspiring governors understand the expectations and demands of the role.

Becoming a Governor

This guidance is particularly directed at parents and staff members who are thinking of becoming a governor. Hopefully this provides you with a good overview, the commitment required and the expectations of the role. If after reading this you would like to find out any more information please contact Mr Martin Smith, Chair of Governors via the school.

The Role of the Governing Body

The governing body is responsible for the conduct of the school and must promote high standards of educational achievement at the school. In all types of schools, governing bodies should have a strong focus on three core strategic functions:

- a) Ensuring clarity of vision, ethos and strategic direction;
- b) Holding the Head teacher to account for the educational performance of the school and its pupils, and the performance management of staff; and
- c) Overseeing the financial performance of the school and making sure its money is well spent.

In order to do this, governors need to gain knowledge of how their school operates through attending meetings, reading school documentation, analysing data and engaging in regular visits to the school.

The role of the governing body is one of oversight and it is not involved in the day to day management of the school. The Head teacher role includes the educational performance of the school and operational responsibility lies with them.

How the Governing Body Works

The Governing body consists of a full committee that meets once a term and three sub committees Business (Staffing, Finance and Buildings), Pay and Learning and Wellbeing. Governors are expected to take their place on the full governing body and one or more of the sub committees and will be expected to receive and understand reports from the Head teacher and senior leaders so that they can question, challenge and support, thereby improving the quality of the whole educational provision.

Full Governing body meetings take place once a term and sub-committees usually before these. Meetings usually take around an hour to an hour and a half and notice of meetings and agendas are provided in advance by the clerk.

Effective governors also attend the school regularly to see and understand how the school operates. They undertake governor visits throughout the year where they can see the good work of the school first hand and produce reports for their governor colleagues. They will be invited to school events, concerts and assemblies and sometimes external events representing the school.

The governing body operates a code of conduct (enclosed) which sets an ethos of professionalism and high expectations of governors. You will be provided with this as part of your induction into the school and will be expected to work within it, since a governing body operates as a corporate entity with corporate responsibility.

Skills and Experience

Governing bodies rely on a range of skills and experiences. You will need a strong commitment to the role, the inquisitiveness to question and analyse, and the willingness to learn. Good interpersonal skills, a basic level of literacy in English, and sufficient numeracy skills to understand basic data are essential.

What is important to us is that you have a willingness to learn and undertake whatever training or development activity is needed to fill any gaps in the skills you have to contribute to effective governance.

Training and Support

The governing body is committed to developing the skills and experience of governors to promote success in the role. As a new governor you will attend induction training and a programme of training will be arranged according to your skills and the requirements of the governing body. Some of this training can be done online, some is at face to face workshops.

Statutory requirements

All governors at a maintained school are required to have a DBS check within 21 days of their appointment.

Attendance and details of governors' business interest are required to be published on the school's website.
